What makes me happy: all the young people getting involved in the life of a new family and those babies continuing life.