What made me happy is that my best friend came with her boyfriend and offered me to go out to take my mind off things because I had just been chucked.