What makes me happy is doing little things every day and realizing that those are what bring lots of happiness.