What makes me happiest is the love of my future husband who, despite leukemia, helps me to get through life.