What made me happy was rowing with my father one night with a full moon, at 4 in the morning, in the Parana delta in Argentina.