What makes me happy is returning home, soaked, during a storm and hearing the rain beating against the windowpanes while I heat up tea!